

PRESIDENT'S TRIP ACROSS COUNTRY

Some Facts and Figures Regarding Journey of Chief Magistrate

WILL VISIT THIRTY-TWO STATES ON HIS TOUR

In Miles. Trip Will Be More Than Half Circumference of Globe

When President Taft completes his trip over the country, which journey he will begin on Wednesday next, he will have traveled a distance of 12,700 miles, visited thirty-two states and territories, rode over twenty-two railroad systems and two steamboat lines. He will have ridden 2280 miles on the Southern Pacific system, 979 miles on the New York Central lines, 979 miles on the Santa Fe, 928 miles on the Northern Pacific, 886 miles on the Denver and Rio Grande and 434 miles on the Oregon Short Line. His shortest railroad ride will be over the Mariposa Phoenix rail line in Arizona, 20 miles. He will travel by steamer from Seattle to Tacoma, a distance of thirty miles; from Tacoma to San Francisco, 116 miles; from San Francisco to New Orleans, 1165 miles; from New Orleans to the Mississippi river, a distance of 1165 miles.

The Longest Ride.
The longest ride he will make in any one state will be from El Paso to Texarkana in Texas, a distance of 215 miles. An idea of the great distance that he will cover in the Lone Star state alone may be had when the reader is informed that the distance from Texarkana, his last stop in Texas, to Portland, Me., across nine states, is 1,805 miles, or 318 miles less than in the state of Texas alone. His trip through Alabama aggregates 115 miles, or a greater distance than between Texarkana, Tex., and Pittsburgh, Pa. In Utah he will almost as great a distance as from New York to Pittsburgh. The chief magistrate and his party will have a greater idea of the magnitude of the United States after the mountain region has been traversed than they have ever had before.

When the president steps on his special train at Boston it will stand in Report which is 160 feet above sea level will land at New Orleans his train will land at New Orleans 160 feet above the sea level. The highest altitude he will reach is when he arrives at the Grand canyon of the Colorado in Arizona, when he will be up the air one and a quarter miles high. From there he will descend to the altitude at the Grand canyon below, and at this point he will have traveled 6900 miles, a little more than one half the total mileage of his trip. The longest distance between stops for the president is between Garrison, Mont., and Spokane, Wash., a distance of 23 miles.

The President will leave Grand Junction, Colo., at 2:15 a. m., September 25, and will arrive at Provo at 12:45 p. m. the same day. He will reach Salt Lake City at 10:30 a. m., September 26. At that time he will have a special train. The train, however, will be a special one.

he reaches Ogden at 1 p. m. Sunday, September 26. From Ogden he will travel on a regular train and will continue until he reaches Phoenix, Ariz., when he will have a special train to Ashfork and return. Four days from October 18 until October 22, he spent on the ranch of his brother in Texas.
